THE RIGHT TO DIFFER.

In sending in his subscription N. Martin of Cottage Grove adds this note:

"You will please allow me to differ with you when you stated in your paper that men of all parties should sustain the present administration in its war privilege to criticise even our highest officials when we in our judgment find them pursning corrupt lines. They may suppress free speech and the press in the Philippines under military rule. We are not going to abandon the real is-sues of the day, Free coinage of Silver on equal terms with gold, and economy and reform in all governmental affairs, is as pressing now as it was in 1896 and we propose to fight it out on that line."

The right to differ with THE JOURNAL has never been denied. Neither have we even asked of our readers that they should refrain from criticising the Mo Kinley administration in its conduct of the war. THE JOURNAL has pursued an independent course in its attitude to ward the administration. It has sought her off. to be fair and to uphold the government in the conduct of the war so far as it was honest, honorable and constitutional. If our army had been as successful in the tration. He and General Wilson are Price Me. Philippines as our navy was, no one the two American administrators in Cuba who have shown themselves to be could be found to criticise. If the same particularly well adapted; to their peaceful relations were established there work. a weekly paragraph announcing that the lines from Salem to Stayton. Secretary of War would not resign. Its last issue says:

Life hastens to allay the fears of such of its readers as may have been terrifled with the belief that, because Mr. Alger of Michigan is a candidate for a senator ship, he was about to resign from Mr. McKinley's cabinet. Such is distinctly not the case. Mr. Alger and Governor Pingree are simply carrying on an edu-cational movement which will teach the people of Michigan that Mr. Alger doesn't even know what a trust is, and that every dollar he has gained by the toil of his hands and the sweat of his brow. He has never even seen an brow. He has never even seen an octooms, and he proposes to hang on to his present job until he gets a better one. Mr. Alger has not resigned from Mr. McKinley's cabinet, and is not going to resign.

Mr. Alger has at last resigned and we anxiously await the next copy of New York Life. That paper has done a great deal to bring about an event that in the words of the late Mr. Hamlet, of Denmark, was "a consummation most devoutly to be wished for."
